Last Sunday 14th March Lunchtime. Geoff received a phone call to say Ashley Franklin our speaker for Monday night had been taken ill and was unable to do the proposed Zoom meeting.

The committee and members send their best wishes to Ashley for a speedy recovery and hope to rebook him when he has recovered.

Action stations required. Geoff and Glynn had to find another speaker asap.

Warren Alani came to the rescue and said he could do a zoom meeting for 15th March. This year we have had to change the programme many times but Geoff, Glynn and the committee have pulled the proverbial rabbit out of the hat numerous times so that members don't miss out.

Thanks Warren, members loved your presentation.

This presentation invites you to observe photography from a different angle. It has been designed to inspire us to capture images for the sheer love of photography, and free ourselves from the confines of briefs and expectations.

The work showcased in this presentation captures a style not typically seen in camera clubs, and includes explanations of my camera and post-processing techniques, with detail of how my vision and style inform my process.

The presentation covers various aspects of my photography, including architecture, sports and travel, and also includes photos from two of my personal projects, as well as some background information on me and how I began my photography journey.

Friday 11th March Dave Perry Competitions Secretary and Graham Caddick Editor, Dicentra Technician and general dogs body, went to Lea Hall as Sue and Roger had a skip available so groups could sort out their equipment and dispose of any rubbish. This was a good opportunity to check equipment and get rid of the out of date magazines. The sound system was taken to Daves' to charge the inboard battery, though we use mains power when used at the club.

The meeting room has new ceiling tiles and has been decorated. They plan to sand and repolish the floor. The photo of an organized storeroom was taken on my phone. Set on the widest aperture the verticals are really leaning over. To comply with newsletter deadlines, I did not have time to pull the leg of the shelving out. Lea Hall Management will be on the lookout for a photographer to take pictures of the improvements. Any volunteers?

Club President Roy Hodgkiss and his wife Pauline celebrated their 65th wedding Anniversary. Carole and Dave delivered flowers and a card from the members. Roy was very moved by this gesture and wanted me to thank everyone on his behalf. He is looking forward to greeting everyone when we can all meet at Lea Hall.
